

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

(For details refer to the brochures provided on this site)

Q1. How is my work experience counted in terms of eligibility for applying for Ph.D or M.Tech Admissions?

We consider your total regular/permanent teaching experience in AICTE approved Engineering Colleges. (2 years for M.Tech. and 3 years for Ph.D). Experience in Diploma Colleges will not be considered.

Q2. I have a Bachelor Degree. Am I eligible for M.Tech Programme under QIP?

M.Tech Programme under QIP is for regular teachers having a minimum of 2 years regular/permanent teaching experience in AICTE approved Engineering Colleges and having a B.E. /B.Tech Degree. However, consider AICTE notification of March 2010 and subsequent entry in Gazette of India displayed on the webpage. The appointment of candidates as regular/permanent faculty in degree level engineering college requires minimum M.Tech degree so if you are appointed as regular faculty after 2010 your appointment is probably invalid and will not be considered for admission in M.Tech.

Q3. Are there exceptional cases for the 2010 AICTE notification?

Yes. There are two exceptions for the said notification:

1. The appointment as regular faculty is after 2010 but the vacancy advertisement against which the appointment is done is of the date before 2010. In such cases the candidates are requested to attached the appropriate documents (copy of advertisement, appointment letter etc.).
2. The state Gazettes implements the notification after it appears in GoI gazzette. Thus, some delay in implementation is expected. If your state has implemented the said notifications at a later date then you are requested to attach a copy of your state gazzette where this notification has been implemented.
